

The Los Angeles Times had received about 300 letters as a result of the Fulton Lewis broadcasts. Some were critical of the Free Europe Committee, RFE and the Crusade. Few were critical of Lewis. Some letters asked for information and many of them were crank letters without signature. The Los Angeles Times decided to answer (without saying so) the mail received by the use of the attached editorial "Freedom Crusade Gains Stature."